Roadmap

1: HYBRID HAZARDS

- Based on case study research, what typically goes when working as a blended team?

2: HYBRID HABITS

- Incorporate these 10 customs into company culture to ensure equality

3: SUCCESS METRICS

- How can you measure whether or not you are working effectively as a hybrid team?

Section 1

HYBRID HAZARDS

WHAT TYPICALLY GOES WRONG WHEN WORKING AS A BLENDED TEAM?

BURNOUT

Micromanagement and miscommunicated expectations fuel overwork and stress

LEADERSHIP SUPPORT

Lack of buy-in to remote work benefits contribute to career stagnancy and delays

ISOLATION

Workforce isn't connected to the social and informational resources necessary for their role

IRRESPONSIBILITY

Inaccurate productivity monitoring methods stifle innovation, trust, efficiency, and retention

HEALTH & SAFETY

Inadequate office supplies and schedule supervision contradict workplace regulations

LAWSUITS

Missing policy terms or mutual agreements increase liability for discrimination or loss

Risks of Poor Conversion

Hybrid Model Risks

INCOMPATIBLE MANAGEMENT

Physical supervision habits fuel inaccurate reporting

WORKPLACE DISCREPANCIES

Equipment and safety differs per location

WORKFORCE DISCRIMINATION

"Out of sight, out of mind" blocks opportunities

Hybrid Hazard #1: Incompatible Management

INACCURATE TRACKING

Is accomplishment or activity being measured?

DIGITAL TOOLKIT

Infrastructure hasn't been updated for virtual ops

MICROMANAGEMENT

Poor virtual leadership training fuels loss of control

Hybrid Hazard #2: Workplace Discrepancy

HEALTH, SAFETY, & ERGONOMICS

OSHA regulations aren't enforced offsite

WORKERS COMPENSATION

Workplace accidents in home offices - risk or rule?

EQUIPMENT QUALITY & IT SUPPORT

BYOD models diversify performance capability

Hybrid Hazard #3: Workforce Discrimination

CAREER STAGNANCY

"Out of sight, out of mind" blocks opportunities

INFORMATION ACCESSIBILITY

Resources, people, or experience is locked in office

REMOTE WORK TRAINING

Increasing expectations without proper equipping

Hazards of Hybrid

Imbalanced daily employee experience can snowball into discrimination & operational risk. Consider this: Is there any competitive advantage to consistently working either on-site or off-site?

Section 2

HYBRID HABITS

10 CULTURAL CUSTOMS TO OPTIMIZE
EQUALITY in a blended workforce

Hybrid Habit #1

Track productivity, commitment, and loyalty based on measurable output instead of proximity and presence.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Use project management system to assign tasks and monitor status of results
- Diversify types of results for most accurate management
- Due to the dangers of overworking, beware of perceiving "burning the midnight oil" as dedication

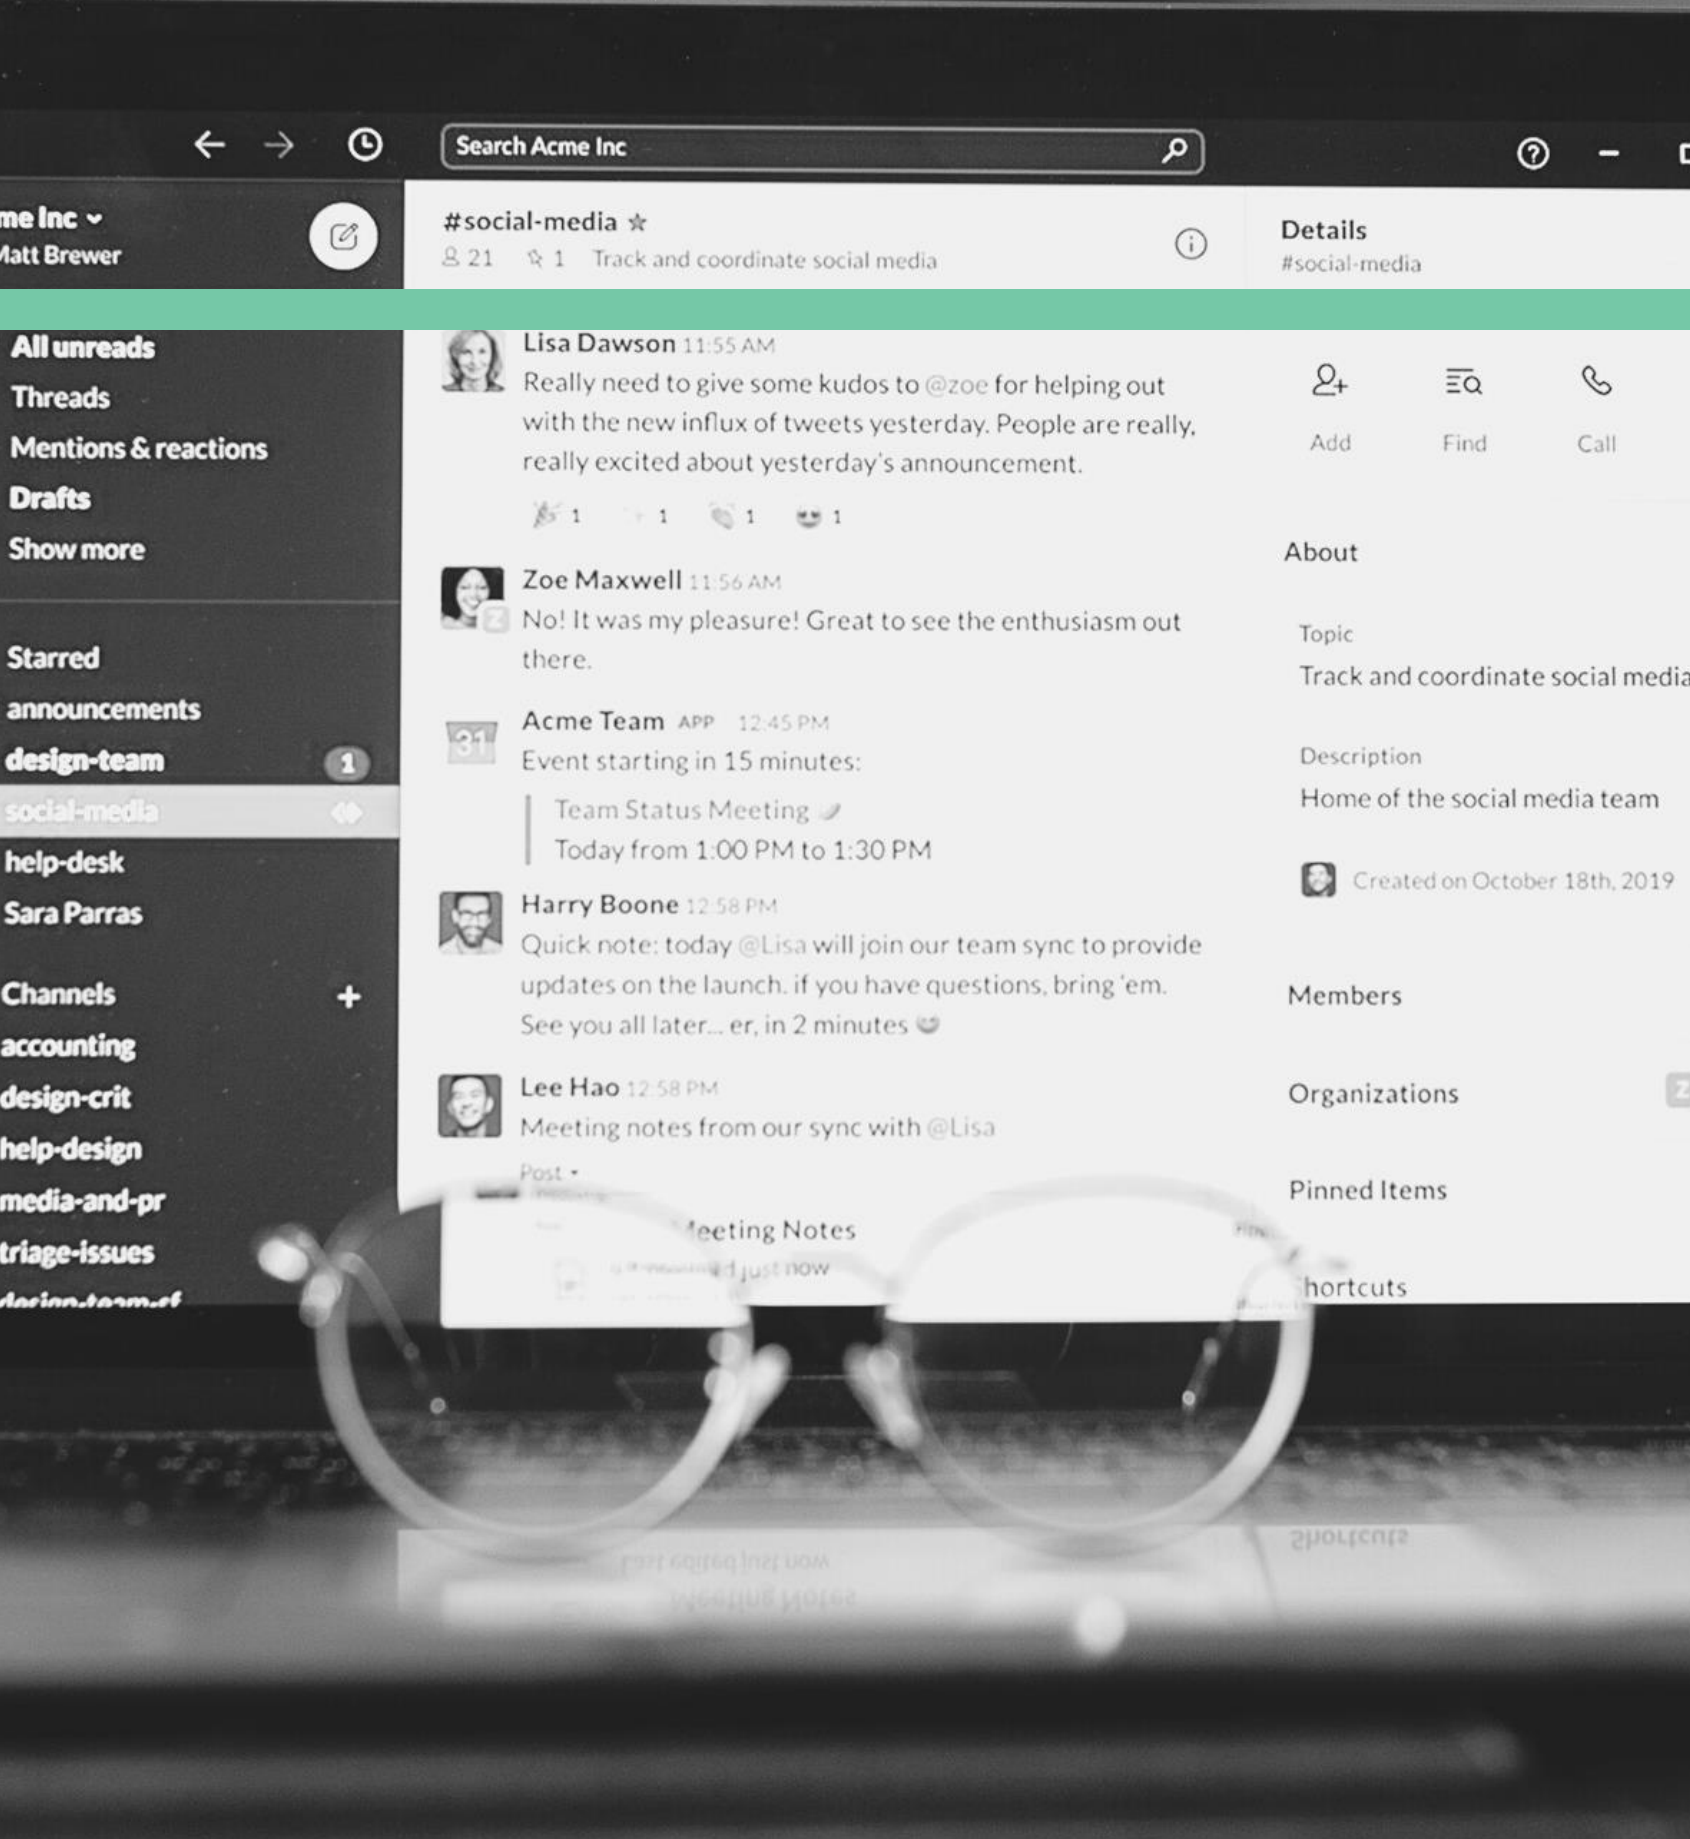

Hybrid Habit #2

Regularly audit meeting experience including verbal contributions, notes, and interactive tools.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- If more than 25% of participants will be attending remotely, default to a virtual platform
- Confirm all records are comprehensive and accessible
- Default to asynchronous communication channels instead of calls to prevent meeting fatigue

Hybrid Habit #3

Default all interpersonal communication to public channels on virtual-first platforms.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Respond to virtual nudges as you would in-person
- Stay out of DMs unless the topic is highly sensitive
- Use audio/video transcriptions for searchability
- Cut hallways meetings short if excluding key members, and/or follow up with digital debriefs asap

Hybrid Habit #4

Maintain a digital "source of truth" for time- and location-independent knowledge sharing.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Incorporate content updates into your daily, weekly, and monthly routines
- Point to the SOT for Q&A, even if you know the answer
- Describe cultural communication expectations to help align virtual employee experience

Hybrid Habit #5

Design home and HQ office spaces to be as similar as possible, prioritizing seating, internet, & equipment.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Publish a "minimum must-haves" checklist
- Inspect home offices for safety, healthy, and ergonomic hazards
- Provide trainings and stipends for workspace setup, information security protocols, and device maintenance

Hybrid Habit #6

Offer a combination of physical and virtual employment benefits and culture development activities

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- For maximum buy-in and attendance, source ideas from team members
- Prioritize asynchronous ideas for optimal inclusivity
- Remember, true connection comes from sharing goals and emotions, more than sharing time and space

Hybrid Habit #7

Distribute all gifts, rewards, and recognition on a virtual-first channel.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Avoid a "grab one in the break room" mindset by distributing items at events or by shipping them to each employee
- Default to equality instead of equity (ie: everyone gets a gift card vs only those who didn't attend).
- Leverage asynchronous tools and activities for optimal inclusive participation

Hybrid Habit #8

Collaboratively design a team workplace selection guide to determine when to work from where.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Coordinate schedules to be on-site together for key meetings and events.
- Transparently discuss work-life balance and home office working conditions to demonstrate support.
- Report to HR if team leadership isn't participating in the team agreement.

Hybrid Habit #9

Repeat news and announcements on at least three virtual channels to confirm knowledge transfers.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Best rule of thumb is the 5 R's: ready, reveal, record, remind, and reinforce
- Confirm that at least one channel is always accessible
- Make time in meetings for small talk to encourage word-of-mouth sharing

Hybrid Habit #10

Proactively prevent gaps and complaints by regularly surveying team members on hybrid satisfaction.

TIPS & STRATEGIES:

- Increase frequency of pulse surveys to at least quarterly
- Create a safe channel where employees can share complaints or concerns about their supervisors
- Ask about reasons, not just decisions
